WELCOME

It is my pleasure to welcome you to Belize. As you flip through the pages of this guide, you will be intrigued by the diversity in nature, culture, cuisine, adventure and history. Belize is rich in all of these regardless of which area you choose to explore. We are a small nation in size, but every single corner of the country has the ability to take you to a place you have never experienced before. The friendliness of the people, good food, the ease to travel, the language, great music, the laid-back ambience, sight-seeing, plus the flexibility and short distances, all combined, make your stay fun-filled and action packed. Diving, snorkeling, caves, Maya sites, nature trails, ocean and river kayaking, horseback riding, birding, medicinal trails, butterfly farms, fly-fishing or deep sea trolling, zip-lining, cave-tubing, waterfalls, carnivals, lobster fest, swimming with rays, diving with whale sharks or simply relaxing on a beach or in a jungle hammock, are just some of the adventures to look forward to. For single travelers, couples, entire families or groups of friends traveling together, young or young at heart, destination weddings or honeymooners, there is something for everyone to enjoy. Many hotels not only cater to the leisure traveler but also have facilities to accommodate business meetings, incentive groups, faith or focus groups, student groups, and others. Whether you come to sit back and relax or check something off your bucket list, Belize provides the opportunity to fulfill your every desire. It is a perfect destination for last minute planning, short or extended stays, first timers or some timers. This year marks a new era for traveling to Belize as many international direct flights are now available and the number of hotels, tours and tour operators have increased. Come visit us! The weather is awesome and the memories everlasting!

Leisa Carr-Caceres
President, 2014-2017
Belize Hotel Association

Welcome to 8,867 square miles of adventure, cultural diversity, delightful cuisine and stunning views. You planned your vacation to Belize by carefully choosing from a wide collection of charming and welcoming hotels and guest houses that suit any budget. As the Minister of Tourism and Civil Aviation of Belize, it is my distinct honor to welcome you to our little corner of the world. We, Belizeans, are extremely proud of our ethnically and culturally diverse country, and equally proud of the many natural wonders that can be found here. Our skilled tour-guides are trained to escort adventurous visitors around the country, whether by road or boat, to swim with the fish at Hol Chan or to guide you carefully through the jaguar reserve. Our Blue Hole attracts many divers annually and sky-diving into it is scheduled to be a major sport for thrill-seekers starting February 2017. Visiting Belize is more about communicating with the people, who are the real stars of your experience. The Maya population thrives in the Toledo District and these humble folk take pride in welcoming visitors into their many villages. Dangriga is the cultural capital of the enchanting Garifuna people where the beating of a drum is as familiar as a handshake. Drive through Spanish Lookout in Cayo or Blue Creek in Orange Walk and you are in Mennonite country. Don't be surprised to see a horse and buggy ride by in the most casual and unconcerned manner. No, you are not in Amish country, you are in Belize. I think by now you realized that you have made the right choice for your vacation. Fishing, swimming, night-clubbing or just laying out under a coconut tree are just a few things we did not get to discuss, but I am sure you will discover. Welcome. While you are here relax, enjoy and discover how to be yourself in Belize. It is a pleasure having you with us, and we look forward to future opportunities to welcome you back to our shores.

Warm Regards,
Honorable Manuel Heredia Jr.
Minister of Tourism

THE BELIZE HOTEL ASSOCIATION

OUR TEAM AT WORK.

WHO WE ARE

The Belize Hotel Association (BHA) is a non-profit, non-government organization and Belize's oldest private sector tourism organization. Its membership is comprised primarily of accommodation providers including hotels, resorts, lodges, condominiums, educational facilities and home-stays with allied members including tour operators and ancillary businesses that service the hospitality industry.

The BHA works diligently to support the sustainable growth of member hotels and the tourism industry in Belize through global marketing initiatives, private and public sector partnerships and training opportunities aimed at increased standards and professional service. Above all, the BHA is committed to ensuring that visitors to Belize receive quality service at a fair price.

THE BELIZE HOTEL ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The Belize Hotel Association Scholarship Fund was established in 2011 with the purpose to provide educational funding for children of employees working with the BHA member hotels and businesses, who are unable to meet financial obligations for their child's high school or tertiary level education. To date, the BHA has financed, one year of tertiary level education for a student in Belize City, four years of high school to completion for one student in Caye Caulker, and is presently funding a student in Belize City for the past two years, who is now heading into the third year of her high school program. In addition, the BHA scholarship fund has assisted in subsidizing a member hotel's Children's Summer Camp Program in the Cayo District.

Thanks to the immeasurable generosity of our members and the local business community who offered gift certificates, cash, gift packages for our raffles/auctions, and through their purchases of our BHA umbrellas, the Belize Hotel Association is pleased to say that we are able to assist more students this year.

For more information or to make a donation to the fund, email us at membership@belizehotels.org or call us at +501-223-0669.

THINGS TO KNOW.

Country Size: 22,965 sq. km. including 689 sq. km. of offshore cayes.

Population: The population of Belize is approximately 350,000 and comprised of diverse ethnicities including Garifuna, Creole, Mestizo, Spanish, Maya, English, Mennonite, Lebanese, Chinese and East Indian.

Language: The official language of Belize is English. Because of its diverse mix of cultures, Spanish, Mayan (Mopan, Ketchi & Yucatec), Garifuna, Creole, German (Mennonites) and Mandarin are frequently spoken.

Time Zone: Belize occupies the GMT-6 time zone or US Central Standard Time. Daylight Savings is not observed.

Government: Since 1981, Belize has been an independent country with a democratically elected parliament. It is a member of the British Commonwealth.

Currency: The Belize dollar has a fixed exchange rate to the US dollar (BZD$2 = USD$1). Currencies such as Pounds and Euros can be exchanged at most banks. ATM machines are available in major towns and cities. Credit cards such Visa and MasterCard are widely accepted. Be sure to notify your bank or credit card provider of travel plans prior.

Passport and Visas: All visitors require a valid passport with proof of return ticket. Visitors from the United States, United Kingdom and most Caribbean nations do not require visas for stays less than 30 days. A notarized permission letter from parent/s not traveling with their child/children is required and will be requested at your departure airport or border, if arriving by land. Contact the Belize Embassy in Washington DC, Belize High Commission in London or the Belize Consulate in Canada for more information.

Departure Fees: Airport Departure Fees are usually included in the airline ticket. If it is not included in the ticket price, passengers must pay a departure fee of $39.25 US. Belizean residents pay a fee of $35.00 BZ. A security fee of $0.75 US is charged for domestic security screening.

Taxes: Hotel Room Tax is 9%. The General Sales Tax (GST) is 12.5% on other goods and services.

Tipping: 10 – 20% is the standard gratuity for most restaurants and tour guides. Establishments may add a service charge.

Vaccines: No vaccinations are required for entry.

Cell Phone Service Provider: Be sure to notify your carrier of travel plans; roaming fees can be costly.

Climate: The climate is subtropical with prevailing winds from the Caribbean Sea. The annual temperature averages 27°C / 80°F.

Clothing: Light cotton clothing is recommended along with a light jacket or long sleeved shirt for cool evenings. For jungle locations and trekking, pack long sleeved shirts, long pants and hiking boots. Binoculars, insect repellent, sunscreen and hats are essential for tropical travel.

Health Services: There are three hospitals in Belize City (one public and two private). Several private doctors are also available. The district towns and larger villages also have hospitals and clinics. It is recommended that travelers have international medical insurance.

Water: Tap water in Belize is treated and fit to drink, however bottled water is also readily available.

Safety: Basic safety tips should be followed wherever you go in the world. Ask your hotel manager or local guide for specific advice on local areas.

MORE

ABOUT THE BLUE HOLE

The Great Blue Hole is a large submarine sinkhole off the coast of Belize. It lies near the center of Lighthouse Reef, a small atoll 70 kilometers from the mainland and Belize City. The hole is circular in shape, over 300 meters across and 125 meters deep. Besides modern-day marine life, this vertical cave contains remnants from its days above water. When much of Earth's water was sequestered in glaciers, global sea level was lower. During this time, stalactites or "dripstones" formed inside this cave, and those rocks are preserved underwater today.

Jacques Cousteau revealed the secrets of the mysterious Blue Hole to millions of viewers in 1971 through the television series The Undersea World of Jacques-Yves Cousteau. Today, dive boats follow the way of the famous Calypso to explore one of the world's best destinations for scuba diving. Blue Hole Natural Monument is one the seven wonders of Belize's World Heritage Site. The Belize Barrier Reef Reserve System, which covers a total area of 963 square kilometers, illustrates a classic example of reefs through fringing, barrier, and atoll types. The coastal area of Belize is an outstanding natural system consisting of the largest barrier reef in the northern hemisphere, offshore atolls, several hundred sand cays, mangrove forests, coastal lagoons and estuaries. The system's seven sites illustrate the evolutionary history of reef development and are a significant habitat for threatened species.

The reef extends from the border with Mexico to the north, near the Guatemalan border to the south. The Belize submarine shelf and its barrier reef, represent the world second largest reef system and the largest reef complex in the Atlantic-Caribbean area. Outside the barrier, there are three large atolls: Turneffe Islands, Lighthouse Reef and Glover's Reef. Between the mainland and the barrier reef is an extensive offshore lagoon which increases in width and depth from north to south. In the north, water depth averages 2-3 meters over a flat, featureless bottom 20-25 kilometers wide. South of Belize City, the shelf gradually deepens forming a channel between the mainland and the outer platform, reaching a depth of 65 meters in the Gulf of Honduras.

The approximately 450 sand and mangrove cays confined within the barrier and atolls range in size from small, ephemeral sand spits to larger, permanent islands capable of sustaining human settlements. The largest of these islands is Ambergris Caye where the village of San Pedro is located. Several PADI dive operators visit Half Moon Caye Natural Monument out of San Pedro, Caye Caulker and Belize City.

The Great Blue Hole is a popular spot amongst recreational scuba divers, who are lured by the opportunity to dive in crystal-clear water and meet several species of fish, including giant groupers, nurse sharks and several types of reef sharks such as the Caribbean reef shark and the Blacktip shark. Other species of sharks, like the bull shark and hammerheads, have been reported there, but are not regular sightings. Usually, dive trips to the Great Blue Hole are full-day trips leaving from Caye Caulker and Ambergris Caye, which include one dive in the Blue Hole and two further dives in nearby reefs.

TURNEFFE ATOLL

Turneffe Atoll offers true world class diving — the visibility often ranges from 100 to 150 feet. The diving sites are considered some of the best in the Western Caribbean. Experience the magnificent wall of Rendezvous, which is abundant with colorful sponges, corals, and marine life.

ARCHEOLOGIST IN BELIZE by Dr. Lisa J. Lucero, Department of Anthropology of the University of Illinois.

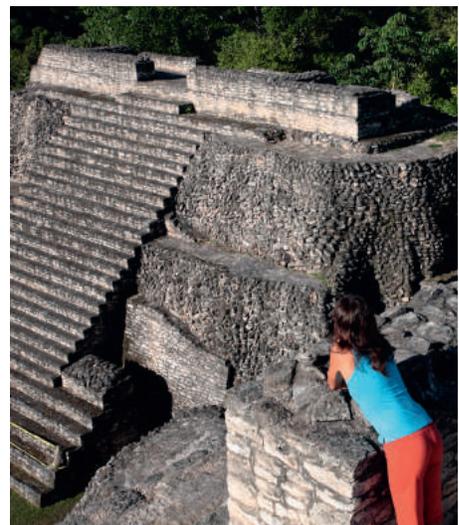

Belize is known for its beauty on the sea, in the jungle, and among people. Another amazing part of Belize is its long history—over 10,000 years of human occupation. The most magnificent remains are those left by the Classic Maya (ca. 250-850 CE), who lived in massive civic-ceremonial centers dotted throughout Belize surrounded by 100,000s farmsteads. Many impressive palaces and pyramid temples remain unexplored, while some are well-known, such as Ca'ana at Caracol, the seat for one of the most powerful kingdoms. Kings, royal families, nobles, elites, priests, and artisans lived in centers, while the majority of people farmed the rich agricultural soils found dispersed throughout Belize.

Touring around Belize you can witness the majesty of the Classic Maya, as you also see mounds on the landscape that represent hundreds of years of Maya rebuilding in the same place for countless generations. The landscape is also filled with sacred aspects invisible to us—processional pilgrimage routes to sacred portals to the underworld—caves and cenotes (steep-sided sinkhole fed by groundwater). People would visit these places to re-establish their place in the world and to thank or supplicate ancestors and gods during annual drought to ensure the rains would begin at the right time to nourish the fields with their maize, beans and squash seeds. The Maya still live in Belize, but no longer in centers; you can see their resemblance to those in Classic iconography on carved on stelae or painted on ceramic vessels. Their history, like all of ours, continues to change. When traveling throughout Belize, one mostly sees modern buildings, roads, bridges, and so on. But remember that you are driving, walking and hiking in a place rich with history that is ready to be explored. This sweat bath shown below is located c.1500 feet from Cara Blanca Pool 1 where the Maya likely ritually purified themselves before participating in water rites at Pool 1. Its circular construction is relatively rare, but served an important role as part of pilgrimage to sacred places.

The National Institute of Culture and History through the Institute of Archaeology (IA) and the Institute for Social and Cultural Research (ISCR) hosts the Belize Archaeology and Anthropology Symposium (BAAS) annually. The symposium features the presentation of scholarly papers by Belizean and international researchers, professionals, students, and aficionados in the fields of History, Archaeology, and Anthropology in Belize.

BELIZE CITY & NORTHERN BELIZE

DID YOU KNOW?

The Northern Region of Belize offers more variety of nature, history and culture than any other districts of Belize. Exotic birds, butterflies of every colour, and an abundance of wildlife team this area of Belize.

NORTHERN BELIZE

Approximately 250 species of birds can be found in the Shipstern Nature Reserve, Chan Chich, Rio Bravo Conservation and the Lamanai ruins which include the king vulture, jabiru stork, blue crowned mot-mot, the ocellated turkey, aplomado falcon and the Yucatan jay. Five species of wildcat inhabit the Northern Region of Belize: the jaguar, puma, margay, ocelot and the jaguarondi. This area is also the home for over 250 varieties of orchids and 200 kinds of trees. History and culture breathe richly in Northern Belize. Remains of early Maya settlements can still be found scattered in this area like the site of Cuello outside of Orange Walk; one of the earliest known Maya sites dating from 2500 BC. Cerros, located on a hill overlooking Chetumal Bay, is a late pre-classic trading center. Lamanai, on the New River, has one of the longest occupation periods and is the largest pre-classic structure known in the Maya area. Santa Rita, around which Corozal Town is built, was the ancient capital of Chetumal controlling an area of about 6,000 square kilometers.

BELIZE CITY

Belize City, although not known for its beaches, offers a colonial charm; the city itself originated as a logging camp and export center for mahogany in the 1600s. Some impressive structures such as the Supreme Court, Government House, the old prison site now converted to the Museum of Belize, and the oldest Anglican Church, St. John's Cathedral, offer historical city tours.

This Belizean landmark was built in 1927 by talented local craftsmen and still retains its beauty, grace and charm. Now, this magnificent four-story colonial style residence is probably the largest classic wooden home still in existence in Belize. Originally built as a family home, this wonderful structure still provides the warmth and comfort reminiscent of the early colonial times of Belize. Spacious verandahs in front of the house allow you to relax and let go amidst the soothing embrace of the Caribbean breezes. Only 100 meters from the Caribbean Sea, 12 miles from largest barrier reef in the Western Hemisphere, 25 miles from the sites of the Mayan Civilization, and a 10 minute walk from the city center (directly across the street from the Radisson Hotel). Our colonial heritage and ambience are faithfully preserved in all of our sixteen guestrooms. Each is individually color coordinated with a host of tasteful and comfortable appointments. The look and feel of yesterday with today's modern conveniences makes The Great House Belize's most desirable "outpost" away from home. From polished pine floor to fresh fruit on arrival, our guestrooms and our staff let you know you made the right choice.

BELIZE CITY AND NORTHERN BELIZE

CAYES & ATOLLS

DID YOU KNOW?

The difference between a coral reef and an atoll is a coral reef consists of a limestone structure whereas an atoll is a specific type of coral that forms in a circular structure. In the Caribbean, there are only 4 atolls: Banco Chinchorro, Turneffe Islands, Lighthouse Reef, and Glover's Reef. All but the Banco Chinchorro are in Belizean waters.

ISLANDS AND CAYES

Over 200 white sand islands, locally known as "cayes" (pronounced "keys") dot the turquoise waters off the length of Belize's coast, each unique whether by its location - inside the reef, on the reef or, on an atoll outside the magnificent Belize Barrier Reef. The larger islands in the north support charming towns and villages while elsewhere on the 185 mile barrier reef, smaller private islands provide exclusive getaways.

AMBERGRIS CAYE

Ambergris Caye, the most northerly and largest of islands off the coast of Belize is a base for world-class diving and snorkeling just offshore. Hol Chan Marine Reserve is home to large schools of colorful fish and its clear, shallow waters and prevailing winds are ideal for fishing, windsurfing, sailing and kite surfing. Hotels, condominiums and vacation rentals in San Pedro Town and along the island offer an eclectic choice of accommodations that are complemented by a mixture of sophisticated international cuisine and traditional Belizean food served in beachside restaurants and local cafes. The streets of San Pedro bustle with local artists and craftsmen and contribute to the captivating atmosphere.

CAYE CAULKER

The epitome of the "laid back island" lifestyle, Caye Caulker is located 21 miles northeast of Belize City and the second largest inhabited island in Belize. "Front Street" is lined with brightly-colored wooden houses interspersed with shops, restaurants and small hotels; friendly islanders will make you feel at home.

AREA HIGHLIGHTS

- Fishing: Punta Ycacos Lagoon
- Gladden Spit: Whale Sharks
- Half Moon Caye National Monument
- Hol Chan Marine Reserve
- Lighthouse, Turneffe and Glover's Reef
- Red-Footed Booby Birds of Half Moon Caye
- Shark Ray Alley

WESTERN BELIZE

DID YOU KNOW?

Discovered in 1938, Caracol is still the highest man-made structure in the entire country towering at 140 feet. The name "Caracol" means snail in Spanish and was given to the site because of its winding trek up the mountain and snail shells found all over the site. The habitation of this site dates back to 900 BC and supported over 140,000 people.

WESTERN BELIZE

The Western part of Belize is one of the most active and exciting regions in the country. Dotted with dozens of Maya sites and crystal caves, interlaced by rivers and waterfalls and coloured by flora and fauna, the Cayo District will not cease to amaze you. "El Cayo" was named by the Spaniards as the region was believed to be an island.

This region homes two major cities, Belmopan, the nation's capital, and San Ignacio, where you will find the most vibrant marketplace in the country. Agriculture is an important part of this region and visiting Spanish Lookout is a must. The Cayo District is the largest district in the country with beautiful scenery decorating both the Western and the Hummingbird Highways. Numerous caves, rivers, jungle and the Mountain Pine Ridge offer endless adventures. However, the best of Cayo is in its people. The myriad of cultures is captivating: Mennonites, Meztizos, Creole, Mayan, European, North American, East Indian and Chinese to name a few. Food, handmade local crafts, creative art displayed in sculptures, paintings, and music ranging from reggae to country or rancharo to rock dominates. It is the beauty of not only the West but also the entire country; it is limitless, timeless, adventurous and unique.

Western Belize is a perfect combination to your island adventures. From the Philip S. W. Goldson International Airport (PGIA), it is only a few hours of driving or a short flight on a local airline, to any area of the Cayo District. The next morning you will be rested and ready to start your Belize vacation. Whether you are a nature lover, adventure seeker or fascinated with archeology, the West has the best!

SOUTHERN BELIZE

DID YOU KNOW?

The area between Southwater Caye Marine Reserve and Laughing Bird Caye is one of the most complex marine habitats in Belize, where patch reefs, faroes and coral islands dot the marine scape.

SOUTHERN BELIZE

The picturesque Hummingbird Highway snakes through the Maya Mountains leading visitors to the jewels of southern Belize. Vibrant local cultures of the Maya and Garifuna are alive with rich traditions. It is home to the world's first Jaguar reserve and is ordained with the intricacies of Mayan architecture: Lubaantun, a pre-Columbian archaeological site, and Nim Li Punit, a Maya Classic Period site, in the Toledo District.

DANGRIGA, HOPKINS & PLACENCIA

Dangriga is a great choice for experiencing hypnotic music, vivid art and the way of the Garifuna people. The Gulisi Garifuna Museum houses permanent displays that highlight their culture and history. The Pen Cayetano Gallery, which opens in November of every year, showcases the artwork of musician and painter Pen Cayetano. Hopkins is a quaint traditional fishing village established during the 19th century. It offers gold sand beaches and a range of visitor services. Placencia Village is a beach resort on the Caribbean coast of Belize known for its palm-line beaches at the southern tip of the Peninsula, its lagoon is home to manatees and saltwater crocodiles. Offshore, there are dive sites of the Belize Barrier Reef System. To the north of Placencia Village is the Garifuna community of Seine Bight, a hub for traditional drumming and dance.

TOLEDO DISTRICT

Punta Gorda, locally known as "PG", is the largest town in the Toledo District and the gateway to lush rainforest, Maya sites, waterfalls, rivers, extensive cave systems, national parks and protected areas teeming with wildlife. The sparkling waters and offshore cayes offer snorkeling and diving, and the world-class fishing grounds see fly-fishermen return year after year. Toledo is also home to a wide range of cultures from the inland Maya villages to the thriving Garifuna culture in PG and Barranco village.

Energy Efficiency

Against the backdrop of rising electricity costs, we're making energy efficiency (EE) affordable for the hotel sector like we did for the Belize Biltmore Plaza when we first started operating in Belize.

Lighting retrofit projects, our specialty, have brought major savings to the franchise hotel. That makes them happy and, you'll agree, happy people make happy hotels.

With so many ways to save energy, we're bound to please your EE taste buds.

Energy Management Ltd. is Belize's first ESCO and an allied member of the Belize Hotel Assn.

GETTING HERE

Several major airlines have daily direct flights from the United States and Central American gateways. All coordinated with European and Canadian connections to land at the Philip Goldson International Airport (PGIA) in Ladyville, which is 20 minutes away from Belize City. Connecting flights and land transfers from Guatemala, Cancun (Mexico) and other Central American countries can be arranged via regional and local airlines and bus companies.

- ADO Buses: Transit between Mexico and Belize
- American Airlines: Nonstop to Belize City from Miami, Dallas, Charlotte, and Los Angeles
- Avianca: Nonstop to Belize City from San Salvador
- Condor: Flights from Frankfurt to Belize; one stop in Cancun
- Copa Airlines: Nonstop to Belize City from Panama City
- Delta Air Lines: Nonstop to Belize City from Los Angeles and Atlanta
- Linea Dorada Guatemala: Transit between Belize from Flores
- United Airlines: Nonstop to Belize City from Houston (IAH) , Newark, and Chicago
- Southwest Airlines: Nonstop to Belize City from Houston (HOU)
- Tropic Air: Nonstop to Belize from Cancun, Flores, Guatemala, Merida, Roatan, and San Pedro Sula
- WestJet: Nonstop to Belize from Toronto

DISCOVER HOW TO BE

Discover a place where tourists become travelers.
And schedules are optional. Here, destinations can be located by map, but only found with the soul. The true Belize is discovered when you leave expectations behind and simply BE.
