Caliber Machinery (Pty) Ltd is a leading supplier of used and rebuilt earth-moving and mining machinery, as well as related parts and components based in Centurion, Gauteng, South Africa. We are conveniently located 40 kilometres north of Johannesburg and just south of Pretoria with excellent road links to the N1. With expertise in reputable brands such as CAT, Komatsu, Hitachi and Bell, we are confident in our ability to provide the best value for money.

We stand out from the competition, not only in our exceptional service offerings, but also our unique outlook in our industry. We are a one stop shop for all things machinery and parts.

Caliber Machinery (Pty) Ltd was established on a strong foundation comprised of mechanical knowledge and expertise. With precision corporate partnerships and an exemplary team, we have been able to grow our business into a fully-fledged, leading supplier of used and rebuilt earth-moving and mining machinery, as well as related parts and components. Coupled with the corporate structure of the elite ALS Group, our industry experience and passion for our people and products has made for a winning combination that boasts quality assurance and customer excellence. We stock a wide variety of Bell, Bomag, Caterpillar, Hitachi, Komatsu, and other quality branded earth-moving and mining equipment and related components and parts.

Caliber Machinery (Pty) Ltd was built on the foundation of years of expertise in the yellow metal industry. In 2006 the Malan family joined forces with the ALS Group to grow the rental business and began trading under the name ALS Haulroads. Many more years down the line we are proud to say that the initial partnership has gone from strength to strength and the original shareholders are now part of Caliber Machinery (Pty) Ltd. Caliber Machinery is a subsidiary and proud member of the ALS Group of companies. The corporate and financial backing from the ALS Group coupled with the highly experienced work force from Caliber Machinery make this a winning combination in providing Sub-Saharan Africa and the rest of the world with quality used and rebuilt earth-moving and mining machinery, as well as related parts and components.

Meet Our Team

At Caliber we understand that a company is only as strong as the team. Whilst our main focus is on customer services and quality inventory, we value our team on the same level. We firmly believe that having the right people who are devoted to what they do will see a company through to success! Below are some of the faces you can expect to get to know at Caliber Machinery.

Our Inventory

At Caliber, we understand better than anyone that new machines lose a large chunk of their value the minute they drive off the showroom floor. That is why we have put our focus into second-hand machinery, which offer great value for money and involve less risk for clients and financiers. Used machines can generate positive cash flows due to lower initial capital outlay, yet reliable service. Often servicing costs are much lower on used machinery because services can be done independently, which saves spending money on pricey agents.

TGS – YOUR FIRST CHOICE SUPPLIER

TGS

ENGINE COMPONENTS

Designed for use in high mileage in-frame rebuilds, TGS Wet Liners are manufactured to meet and surpass stringent design specifications.

A wet liner has no supporting bore structure and it is held in place by the flange, the flange has to withstand and endure continuous bending and flexing forces.

To overcome these stresses all TGS liners receive a Deep Pressure Roll burnishing on the radius directly below the flange. This process strengthens the flange area by more than 50% and reduces metal fatigue, preventing liner fractures.

The liners are induction hardened to decrease premature surface wear. All TGS liners receive a special coating to minimize cavitation damage and resist corrosion.

MCCLOSKEY R155 SCALPER MEETS RECYCLING CONTRACTOR'S EXPECTATIONS

A year after taking delivery of its first ever McCloskey machine from Kemach Equipment, Crush-It Green (CIG) reports that the R155 scalper, deployed at one of its crushing sites in Gauteng, has lived up to expectations.

Founded in 2019 when the two partners took over an existing recycling and production facility that had been in operation since 2016, CIG is one of the few South African companies that holds a Global GreenTag Certification, one of the world's most trusted and widely recognised ecolabels.

Although CIG is still active in its founding concrete and rubble recycling business, the company has in recent years expanded into crushing and screening of virgin material, working on several sites in Gauteng, including Nigel, Soweto and Germiston. The scope of projects entails screening of gold-bearing dumps for a client and then crush the rock to produce aggregates for the construction industry.

On the back of an expanding project portfolio, CIG went into the market for a new scalper early last year to bolster its fleet. Having traditionally been devoted to a certain premium brand, for several reasons CIG decided to go the McCloskey route and took delivery of its first ever McCloskey R155 scalper in March 2021.

"We have always run a certain brand, but our usual supplier didn't have stock at the time, and we wanted a scalper quite urgently. We were not keen on a second-hand unit and could also not accommodate the Covid-19 influenced long lead time," says Clint Rodwell, partner at CIG.

Rodwell says the existing relationship with Bradley Karolus, sales specialist at Kemach Equipment, whom Rodwell had previously dealt with for years before he recently joined Kemach, was one of the key factors in CIG's purchasing decision.

"Bradley assured us that the McCloskey R155 scalper was equally good, and this has turned out to be true. With his assurances, we decided to take a chance and bought the McCloskey scalper," says Rodwell. "A year after running the machine, we are happy with the performance and the support from Kemach."

A key factor in CIG's buying decision was the versatility of the machine. By its very nature, says Rodwell, the McCloskey R155 can be used as a scalper or a final screen. Central to the versatility of the machine is also the feeding arrangement, which offers customers the choice of either an apron or belt feeder.

"McCloskey offers both options – apron and belt feeder – to suit different customer needs. This is based on our understanding that customers require different feeder arrangements for different applications," says Karolus.

Further machine versatility is achieved through the interchangeable top deck of the machine. "The machine's top deck can be configured with a grizzly, mesh or punch plate. McCloskey is one of the few OEMS offering such a range of options," says Rodwell. Another crucial factor in CIG's decision was the fact that McCloskey runs common components, such as engines and hydraulics. "McCloskey runs a Cat engine, which is a common motor in the market and the parts are easily accessible from different suppliers," concludes Rodwell.

Shumani supplies world-class equipment across the breadth of the industrial and construction sectors

Shumani Industrial Equipment MD Victor Nemukula

Over time, only electric forklifts will operate across the breadth of the economy

DEMAND FOR ELECTRIC FORKLIFTS AS MATERIALS-HANDLING SECTOR GOES GREEN

Materials-handling is the backbone of the economy and an integral part of the logistics industry. “The growth in demand for electric forklifts, as well as the uptick in the economy, are drivers of the forklift market,” comments Shumani Industrial Equipment MD Victor Nemukula. Shumani is the largest black-owned and managed industrial equipment supplier in South Africa.

Nemukula notes that the spike in demand is not necessarily due to buoyant commodity prices, but the result of unspent capital during the 2020 Covid-19 lockdown period now being released onto the market. “The future of the forklift industry is electric. We are already seeing a gradual move away from internal combustion engines. Over time, only electric forklifts will operate across the breadth of the economy,” predicts Nemukula.

This is because electric forklifts represent a greener, cleaner, and safer energy source. Over their lifespan these forklifts are also far more cost-effective to operate. “Shumani’s focus is more on improving customer satisfaction using available technology,” adds Nemukula. Communication between technicians on-site and back-office staff is integral to ensure a seamless response to customer queries and any breakdown issues.

Shumani is an appointed dealer for all Goscor Group companies that import industrial equipment for the South African market. It supplies world-class equipment across the breadth of the industrial and construction sectors. Brands on offer include world-leading names like Bendi, Crown, Kalmar, and Doosan in the forklift market. Construction equipment brands include Bobcat, Sany, HPower, Weima, Luthian, Ozen and Sullair. In the cleaning equipment market segment, Shumani offers Tennant, Genie, Sentinel and HighPoint.

Over the past 23 years, Philippi-Hagenbuch has manufactured hundreds of rear eject truck bodies to help customers increase their productivity, safety and stability for off-highway operations.

PHILIPPI-HAGENBUCH REDUCES LEAD TIME FOR REAR EJECTS

Common sizes to be maintained in stock for faster delivery

Philippi-Hagenbuch, Inc. is now offering in-stock inventory of its most popular sizes of rear eject bodies. This reduces the rear eject lead time for 35- to 45-ton truck models to six weeks or less, in most cases.

Over the past 23 years, Philippi-Hagenbuch has manufactured hundreds of rear eject truck bodies to help customers increase their productivity, safety and stability for off-highway operations. Rear ejects are engineered and manufactured to fit the specific truck body chassis and are easy to operate in the cab, reducing dumping and spreading time by eliminating the need to stop and raise the truck body. A variety of industries, including general construction, aggregates and mining, use rear eject bodies and trailers to significantly improve their productivity when dispensing material and overcoming situations where overhead barriers inhibit traditional dump bodies.

"We are dedicated to offering our clients the equipment they need, tailored to increase the productivity of their specific haul trucks," said Josh Swank, Philippi-Hagenbuch vice president of sales and marketing. "We remain committed to offering customized solutions for our customers, including our rear eject product line. However, we have found that the majority of our rear eject bodies are for 35- to 45-ton trucks and we can now offer a faster turnaround time for those customers by maintaining an inventory of our most common models. This is especially beneficial with so many of our clients facing the current supply chain and lead time challenges."

Philippi-Hagenbuch continues to custom engineer and build rear eject bodies and trailers for a variety of makes and models of off-highway trucks to provide solutions for each customer's unique needs. Beyond its in-stock sizes, the company manufactures rear ejects that can fit 25- to 60-ton haul trucks. The rear eject bodies are manufactured exclusively with high strength, abrasion-resistant Hardox 450 steel for the greatest structural strength and durability. Due to their all-Hardox construction, which PHIL made as a commitment through SSAB's "Hardox In My Body" campaign, PHIL's rear ejects are proven to last up to 20 years and are often put on a second truck after the first chassis has worn out. "Over the last few years, we have made it a priority to evolve and update our rear ejects based on feedback to offer an even better product for our clients," said Swank. "We had a vision to further develop not only the operation of both the ejector blade and the rear tailgate mechanism, but to reduce the number of parts, evolving the track design to strengthen the truck sides and to decrease the need for maintenance or replacement."

Philippi-Hagenbuch upgraded its rear eject design with a single, newly-engineered, three-stage, double acting hydraulic cylinder that is robust enough to keep the rear ejects operating in extreme cold or in equatorial warm-weather locations. This cylinder has been specifically designed for horizontal movement so it will not buckle or bind as it is fully extended while operating in the dynamic environments where the rear ejects will be used. Operations can effectively and safely dump material with a rear eject even when a truck is out of position, driving up a hill or under overhead barriers with low clearance, such as power lines, roof lines, pipelines or bridges. Additionally, the ejector blade of a rear eject pushes material toward the rear of the truck while the tailgate mechanically lowers down, and material is completely ejected. In situations where trucks may be traveling on soft surfaces, rear ejects offer a constantly low center of gravity and stabilization. This effective dumping action eliminates further downtime and significantly increases jobsite safety and productivity.

"We envision the use of our rear ejects to remain and grow as an important part of the construction, aggregate, mining, refuse and scrap steel handling landscapes as they offer more safety and efficiency to any operation," said Swank. "With many developments in our rear eject product line over the last three decades, Philippi-Hagenbuch is excited to continue that growth and consistently set the standard in providing custom hauling solutions for our clients and revolutionize the way work is done."
