The FUTURA Wear Technology Premium range is designed for cable shovels, draglines, hydraulic face shovels and mining excavators up to 800 tons.

The main features are its hammerless solutions that increase safety and reduce downtime, its proven performance with extra weight invested in reinforcing the key areas of the tooth where it has more exposure to wear, and its design with lateral and central ribs contributing to facilitate the flow of material, significantly extending the life while retaining its self-sharpening properties.

Manufacturer's names, numbers & descriptions are used for reference purposes only & it is not implied that any part listed is the product of the manufacturers.

FUCHS LUBRICANTS SOUTH AFRICA INVESTS R218 M TO INCREASE LOCAL PRO-DUCTION CAPACITY

Following the successful completion of its Phase One expansion at its Isando facility, FUCHS LUBRICANTS SOUTH AFRICA is on track with the next phase of the project. Commencing earlier this year and expected to be completed in 2024 at a total cost of R218 million, Phase Two will see a 40% increase in lubricants production capacity, says MD Paul Deppe. "As part of our growth strategy, we started planning our capacity expansion some five years ago," explains Deppe. Phase One of the investment plan involved acquiring additional land at the Isando facility and construction of a new, state-of-the-art warehouse and head office complex, which was completed in mid-2022 by DRA Global, which engineered, procured, constructed, and managed the project.

"The next part of our expansion is to increase our production capacity," says Deppe. This was necessary as the current plant is running at capacity 24/7. "To meet market demand, we had to look at expanding our production capability. It also afforded us the opportunity to introduce the latest technology in blending and filling processes."

Deppe points out that the new plant is an expansion of the existing plant and will bring about much needed capacity increase. FUCHS embarked on its automation journey when it built its second grease plant in 2018. "We are adopting the same methodology with the automation of this plant, using a well-known German company that has done work for the group in other parts of the world," says Deppe. He adds that 80% of the project spend will be local and the balance imported, mainly on the automation.

Esther Seabi, Sustainability Director at FUCHS, reveals that in line with the FUCHS Net Zero goals, the project will focus on energy efficiency and renewable energy as key drivers. Features will include insulation, variable speed drives (VSDs), heat recovery from heated product and flue gas, and a solar PV system. Recently, FUCHS received an accolade from the Green Building Council South Africa (GBCSA) Leadership Awards for 2021-2022. In addition, the new FUCHS head office has been certified as being net zero carbon. The new warehouse in Isando incorporates some of the latest warehouse management technology, including scanning and system driven batch control. The new materials-handling equipment includes narrow-aisle turret trucks stacking up to 17 m high. The warehouse includes a comprehensive environmental, safety and fire system, including in-rack sprinklers and automated spill barriers. Deppe remains bullish about growth in both the local and African markets. "We are steadily increasing our market share and expanding throughout Sub-Saharan Africa from our regional hub in Isando," he concludes.

TEGA INDUSTRIES EXPANDS OFFERING TO INCLUDE CAPITAL EQUIPMENT

The minerals processing industry in Africa is due for a shake-up following news of the acquisition of heavyweight minerals processing equipment manufacturer, McNally Sayaji Equipment Limited, by global mill liner and wear parts manufacturer, Tega Group, to offer a more comprehensive and cost-effective solution for the continent's beneficiation plants.

Under the auspices of the merged operations the rebranded Tega McNally Minerals Limited (TML), is a manufacturer of equipment for industries such as iron ore, coal, steel, zinc, copper, limestone, rare earth and other minerals as well as aggregates.

This is just the medicine required by local operations according to Tega Industries Africa CEO, Vishal Gautam, adding that the injection of high-quality equipment at reasonable prices and supported by Tega Industries' unmatched technical expertise is a shot-in-the-arm for local mines who will enjoy a wider range of solutions for the continent's challenging conditions.

"The McNally acquisition is huge for Tega. We have been a critical spares supplier to mines and materials handling operations for nearly 50 years and will now be able to supply the full solution from the actual grinding mills or screens etc to the screening media, liners and consumables as required by our clients. This will obviously expand our existing customers' choices and allow them to do business with the people who have been supplying them with critical parts for years.

Tega is set to become a major force in equipment manufacturing

"The equipment available will include various minerals processing equipment and will obviously increase our revenue by many fold in Africa and when seen in conjunction with our better than 20% organic growth that we have been achieving over the past few years it becomes clear to see that this new opportunity is something that is needed and will be a great success and we are already approaching international project houses as well and working with the big players here in Africa so watch this space," says Vishal.

He adds that the acquisition is in line with the company's vision to provide holistic solutions to the industry while reinforcing its leadership position on African soil. With one of its six manufacturing plants in Brakpan, South Africa, the company has been well rooted in the country since 2006 with customers in Zambia, DRC, Tanzania, Botswana, Mozambique, Ghana, Mali, Burkina Faso and all provinces of South Africa. It remains bullish about the future of African mining.

BABCOCK ADOPTS LEAN RETAIL SYSTEM

Babcock has become the first Volvo Construction Equipment (Volvo CE) dealer in the world to adopt Volvo CE's Lean Retail System – a programme guided by a set of principles aimed towards developing a culture of constant improvement and problem solving. The company is currently busy with the pilot roll out at its Bartlett, Jet Park operations. Championed by Volvo CE, the Lean Retail System is aimed at cultivating a culture of continuous improvement by identifying different parts in the work process that can be optimised to make them easier, faster, better, cheaper and less stressful, and improve them, on a continual basis.

Duncan Gooch, Head of SHEQ – Equipment at Babcock, explains that the programme is premised on the same foundations as Lean Manufacturing, a principle which originated in Japan and is designed to minimise the waste of material and labour while maintaining or increasing levels of production.

"The Lean Retail System entails continual identification of opportunities to improve processes, increase efficiency and reduce waste – both in terms of time and resources. Ultimately, it is about eliminating that which does not add value and delivering the best possible service to the customer as quickly and cost-effectively as possible," explains Gooch. Continuous improvement, stresses Gooch, is not about making drastic changes, but small improvements on a constant basis. Continuous improvement, especially in the form of small adjustments, is one of the original lean principles. The smaller improvements are usually quicker, involve less to no cost, do not require a specialised team, the latter meaning anyone can play a role in the process. If something doesn't work, the team can take a small step back, learn from it and continue moving forward.

Babcock commenced the rollout of the programme on September 4, 2023 – becoming the first Volvo CE dealer to do so – under the guidance of four Sweden-based experts from the OEM. During the first day of the programme, the Babcock management team was exposed to the fundamentals of the lean principles in retail. During the following four days, the Volvo CE team spent time with the operational workshop-based pre-delivery inspection (PDI) team and Gooch, who initially headed the project before the appointment of a dedicated graduate trainee who has been tasked to drive the programme. An area of initial focus is the PDI section of the business, where Babcock is looking at the current processes and identifying opportunities to make them more efficient and to reduce waste. "Adopting the lean principles in our PDI environment is going to be a six-month process, working closely with Volvo CE. Until March 2024, three of the four Volvo experts will visit us every month for three days at our premises, following up on progress made and providing guidance where necessary," says Gooch.

In addition, there is a scheduled 'Teams call' every week between Babcock representatives and the Volvo CE experts for regular updates and guidance. "We have already identified several small process steps which need improvement in our PDI section. Each member of the team has acknowledged some issues within their area of responsibility that they can improve on," concludes Gooch. After the initial six-month focus on the PDI section under the guidance of Volvo CE, Babcock will look to independently roll out the lean principles to other areas of the business. "Ultimately, it is about planting the Lean culture of continuous improvement in all aspects of our business. Buy in from all stakeholders – staff and management – is critical for the sustained success of this programme. The intent of 'lean' is to have everyone instinctively making small continuous improvements, everywhere, all the time," concludes Gooch.

Explosive topping of the chimney at Tata Steel

JET DEMOLITION AND EDIFICE ENGINEERING AT THE 2023 WORLD DEMOLITION AWARDS

Representing global excellence in the demolition industry, Jet Demolition, in conjunction with Edifice Engineering of India, were declared runners-up in two categories for the World Demolition Awards (WDA) 2023. Currently in its 15th year and comprising 11 award categories, the WDA is part of the World Demolition Summit that took place from 17 to 18 October in Toronto, Canada.

In partnership with Edifice Engineering, Jet Demolition entered the category of explosive demolition for the controlled implosion of the Supertech Twin Towers in Noida, Uttar Pradesh near the capital New Delhi on 28 August 2022. It marked Jet Demolition's second collaboration with Edifice Engineering, a leading demolition company based in Mumbai. Citing the project as one of the most challenging ever undertaken by Jet Demolition, Director Joe Brinkmann says: "Edifice Engineering and India have joined the 100 m implosion club under extremely demanding conditions."

In the projects under $1 million category, the highly successful collaboration of Jet Demolition and Edifice Engineering entered the precision brownfield demolition of large coke oven infrastructure at the Tata Steel Jamshedpur Works (TSJW) in India. The main challenge was achieving fully assured, precise control of the toppling direction of the chimneys to prevent damage to operational plant assets from direct impact.

Jet Demolition is no stranger to international accolades, being crowned 'Best of the Best' at WDA 2020 and winning the explosive demolition category for the controlled implosion of the Bank of Lisbon building in Johannesburg.

In 2019, Jet Demolition won in the recycling and environmental category for the safe decontamination and demolition of three redundant gold and uranium complexes. In 2018, it won in the industrial demolition category for the demolition of a coal-fired boiler and ancillary equipment at Duvha Power Station in Mpumalanga. In 2017, it won for its innovative implosion of the 14-storey HG de Witt Building in Pretoria.
