Revaro Gears Up For Nampo 2024: Highlighting Powerhouse Equipment for the Digital Farm

In the dynamic landscape of agriculture, where innovation is the heartbeat and technology is king, Revaro stands tall as a shining example of reliability, familiarity, and steadfast- commitment support for farmers across the spectrum. As we gear up for Nampo 2024, the premier agricultural showcase, Revaro is proud to unveil its formidable range of equipment, carefully crafted to empower farmers in the digital age while staying true to our core values of simplicity, ease of operation, and affordability.

At the heart of Revaro's lineup lies a collection of powerhouse equipment designed to tackle the toughest tasks on the farm with unmatched efficiency and precision. From front-end loaders that effortlessly handle heavy lifting to excavators that excavate with surgical precision, each machine is not just a tool but a solution skillfully engineered to address the unique challenges faced by farmers every day.

Consider our skid and track steers, versatile workhorses that handle rugged terrains with grace, offering unparalleled incredible control and productivity. And let's not forget our standard forklifts, all-terrain forklifts, and rough-terrain forklifts, each effortlessly tailored to streamline material handling operations, ensuring seamless logistics and maximum uptime on the farm.

When a job needs the combined power of a tractor, loader, and backhoe, Revaro's TLBs are the answer. They offer unbeatable versatility and performance. From digging trenches and clearing land to loading materials, these all-in-one machines handle everything with ease, giving farmers the confidence and efficiency to tackle any challenge.

In today's world, where reliable power is crucial, Revaro generators are your dependable backup whenever and wherever you need them. Built to handle the tough demands of farm life, our generators keep your operation running smoothly, even through power cuts or emergencies.

While the agricultural landscape evolves at lightning speed and the digital revolution transforms farming practices, Revaro remains steadfast in its commitment to simplicity, familiarity, and affordability. Our equipment is not just a means to an end; it's a trusted companion, a reliable partner that farmers rely on day in and day out.

At Revaro, we understand that farming is more than just a business; it's a way of life, a legacy passed down through generations. That's why we strive not only to provide top-notch equipment but also to forge lasting emotional connections with our customers. When you choose Revaro, you're not just buying a machine; you're joining a family, a community of like-minded individuals united by a common goal: to nurture the land and feed the world.

As we prepare to showcase our latest innovations at Nampo 2024, Revaro is positioned at the forefront of agricultural excellence, ready to empower farmers with the tools they need to thrive in an ever-changing world. With our commitment to simplicity, reliability, and affordability, we're not just selling equipment; we're offering peace of mind, confidence, and the promise of a brighter tomorrow for farmers everywhere.

ASTEC INDUSTRIES AND ELITE CRUSHERS & HYDRAULICS IN NEW DEALER PARTNERSHIP IN BOTSWANA

Reflecting Astec Industries' commitment to continuously improving its service to existing and potential customers around the world, including offering swift, seamless technical support in every region that it operates in, the global equipment manufacturer has partnered with Elite Crushers & Hydraulics in Botswana. The company has been appointed as Astec's dedicated agent in the country for all of its Materials Solutions equipment. This includes Astec's premium range of crushers, screens and feeders, as well as washing, classifying and material handling solutions, modular plants and rock breaker technology.

Elite Crushers & Hydraulics is a well-established supplier of equipment to the mining and quarrying industries in Botswana. According to director Thembelani Albert, the company's new dealer partnership with Astec Industries will ensure swift service and readily available spares for the end users of durable, high quality Astec Industries machines in the country. "It will enable customers to get immediate technical assistance from our highly qualified, trained and knowledgeable in-country specialists, eliminate delays in getting spare parts shipped from Astec Industries' Johannesburg facility, and drive sales. We pride ourselves on our service. This is how we have built a loyal base of customers who trust us to keep their equipment operating optimally and to minimise downtime. Our partnership with Astec Industries is in line with our dedication to providing our customers with high quality equipment and uncompromising support and service when they need it," he states.

Job creation, knowledge transfer and skills development in Botswana are further benefits of the dealer partnership between Elite Crushers & Hydraulics and Astec Industries. "Our personnel in Botswana will receive regular training to ensure that they are knowledgeable, skilled and up to date on all of the equipment in Astec's Materials Solutions division. We will also be growing our team to meet the expected increase in demand for Astec equipment, support, service and spares," he says.

Albert notes that there are currently several new opportunities in the pipeline, including orders for Astec Industries equipment to be supplied to two leading diamond mines and a colliery in Botswana.

Minor equipment services, repairs and refurbishments are undertaken at Elite Crushers' well-equipped workshop while the company also has technical support personnel who travel to sites around Botswana. Spare parts for Astec Industries equipment will be held in stock at Elite Crushers' warehouse.

"We are very excited about this partnership and the opportunity to grow Astec Industries' equipment footprint in Botswana and offer exceptional aftersales service and technical support in the country," says Kevin Mgiba, Astec Industries regional sales manager for Southern and East Africa. "We chose to partner with Elite Crushers & Hydraulics because they are a highly regarded local business with a firm foundation deeply rooted in Botswana's mining, quarrying and construction industries. The company shares Astec Industries' unwavering commitment to our core values of respect, integrity, devotion, safety and innovation. We take great pride in contributing to the progress and advancement of a business based in Botswana, and in empowering its people to succeed," Mgiba concludes.

PHILIPPI-HAGENBUCH SIDEBOARDS OFFER CUSTOM SOLUTION TO INCREASE MATERIAL VOLUME, DECREASE SPILLAGE FOR HAUL TRUCKS

Philippi-Hagenbuch, a global leader in off-highway truck customization, offers Sideboards to haul more material with each load while minimizing material loss. Philippi-Hagenbuch Sideboards install easily and precisely fit to vertically extend the sides of off-highway haul truck bodies. The company works with each operation to custom engineer Sideboards to achieve the optimal height based on the truck's rated weight, the material being hauled and the loading equipment. Sideboards increase the haul truck's capacity while reducing or even preventing spillage, keeping haul roads clean — reducing downtime to clear the road — and protecting haul truck tires.

"We have decades of experience in providing custom and incredibly durable solutions to optimize hauling operations," said Josh Swank, Philippi-Hagenbuch vice president of sales and marketing. "Our Sideboards are a great solution to help producers enable their trucks to haul their full rated capacity. Sideboards offer the simplest, least-expensive way to add volume to a truck body."

Operations can utilize Sideboards alone or pair them with Philippi-Hagenbuch Autogate® Tailgates to further increase capacity and prevent material from spilling from the back of the body.

Sideboards are available in 1-inch increments from 6 inches to 40 inches. In some cases, they may be available in an even larger size, depending on the haul truck, the environment and the material being hauled. The company also considers the operation's loading equipment to ensure the final height will not exceed the loader's capabilities.

Philippi-Hagenbuch determines the proper size for Sideboards using a calculation based on material density, 2:1 heap capacity and haul truck body volume. For example, if a haul truck's tonnage capacity is 71 tons and the volumetric capacity is 52.3 cubic yards at a 2:1 heap, Sideboards add .92 cubic yards of volumetric capacity for every inch of height that is added to the truck body.

Designed in an upside down "U" shape, Sideboards fit over the existing body sides and are securely welded to the body. Philippi-Hagenbuch engineers Sideboards to fit the specific make and model of off-highway haul truck, and the front is "trim to fit" for optimal mating up with the front slope of the body. Operations can utilize Sideboards alone or pair them with Philippi-Hagenbuch Autogate® Tailgates to further increase capacity and prevent material from spilling from the back of the body.

Philippi-Hagenbuch Sideboards are built of Grade 80 steel for trucks ranging from 20 to 150 tons and 450 Brinell on trucks 150-plus tons for excellent durability. They're also engineered with internal structural gussets to help provide a long service life. Sideboards can be installed at Philippi-Hagenbuch's factory in Peoria, Illinois, in the field with Philippi-Hagenbuch supervisory assistance or self-installed by a dealer or customer.

GVK-Siya Zama CFO, John de Sousa

ACTION NEEDED NOW TO RESTORE CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

Confidence in the construction industry has been erratic since 2020, compelling several industry players to close their doors. Those that remain are exposed to risk, vigilante action and skills shortages due to mass emigration. Government's stated commitment to making regulatory changes and spending on infrastructure do, however, provide some light at the end of the tunnel.

"The industry needs a major boost to regain the prosperity of a decade ago," says GVK-Siya Zama CFO, John de Sousa. "Much needs to be done to improve investor confidence and boost the industry. Here, the government has a major role to play. The finance minister's announcements at the recent budget speech bode well for the industry - if they play out according to plan."

De Sousa's comments come as GVK-Siya Zama's marks its 30-year anniversary since inception in 1994, coinciding with the birth of democracy in South Africa. Since then, it has evolved into one of the largest privately-owned construction companies in the country.

The company's roots, however, can be traced back to the 1960s when it operated as a painting and restoration company focused on smaller projects. Over the years, it grew into a significant player in the construction industry, successfully taking on larger and more complex projects.

Today, GVK-Siya Zama's work has shifted from the highly aesthetic restoration projects of the past, to being part of the construction machinery involved in creating healthcare and education facilities in response to a considerable backlog, underpinned by a growing and a shifting population.

De Sousa, says the advent of a democratic South Africa held much promise three decades ago, albeit with many unknowns for investors at the time. "It also presented an opportunity to address and redress inequality in terms of infrastructure and services; and along with that change, shift the emphasis in public spending. "In those early days, there was a major drive by the government to invest in infrastructure, hospitals, education facilities and the type of projects that would cement the leadership's foothold in the country. This focus was unfortunately at the cost of unseen infrastructure such as pipelines and reticulation, roads, bridges, water and electricity, challenges that the country is now having to deal with – 30 years on," he adds.

Government's proposed regulatory amendments for PPPs welcomed

De Sousa says the state needs private sector participation to accelerate projects. "Any vehicle or relaxation of rigid structures and requirements – such as the government's intention to amend the public-private partnership (PPP) regulatory framework – will help to reduce procedural complexity of undertaking PPPs and contribute to more streamlined delivery of projects."

In addition, government's recent budget speech announcement that it plans to invest more than R943 billion in the refurbishment and maintenance of existing assets and the building of new public infrastructure is welcomed by GVK-Siya Zama. Commenting on this, de Sousa says: "This is a promising move by government, and we'll watch the space with keen interest."

De Sousa says the company applauds government's plans to transform municipalities into engines of growth through the tightening of budget processes, ramping up of oversight, increasing skills and capacity of municipal employees, and driving investment in maintaining and building infrastructure. "It's no secret that in recent years, municipalities have not been great at managing finances and delivering projects. Any focus on municipal governance and the eradication of corruption and ineptitude will go a long way towards addressing these challenges," notes de Sousa.

Moving the industry forward requires decisive action

Looking at the sector as a whole, he says there is enormous pressure on the private sector to finance and move projects forward. "On the flip side of the coin, there is counter pressure from labour as government considers the privatisation of state-owned entities (SOEs). Government is in a bind. It knows what needs to be done, but dealing with these opposing forces on the ground inevitably slows the process down. Decisive action is, however, needed to ensure a sustainable industry," adds de Sousa.

He says economic growth, population growth, increasing unemployment and shrinking public sector spend place even the most reputable contractors in a precarious position.

"At GVK-Siya Zama, we will continue to strive for a sustainable company that provides employment, trains and develops employees, contributes meaningfully to the built environment and turns a profit – we will continue to carry the construction flame high and work with all stakeholders to ensure the industry's longevity in the country," concludes de Sousa.
