IT IS IMPORTANT TO REMEMBER NOT TO COMPARE EPDS FROM BREED TO BREED!

EPDs (Expected Progeny Difference): EPDs are a statistical measurement of a bull's ability to transmit certain traits to his offspring based on his dams, sires and own production & performance record, as well as his own progeny's record when data is submitted. EPDs allow for the evaluation of cattle of the same breed from ranch to ranch with out concern for differences in environment, nutrition and management. IT IS IMPORTANT TO REMEMBER NOT TO COMPARE EPD FROM BREED TO BREED! The following are descriptions of the EPDs used in this catalog.

CED: Calving Ease Direct is expressed as a difference in percentage of unassisted births with a higher value indicating greater calving ease in first-calf heifers.

BW: Expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit BW to his progeny compared to that of other sires. The lower the EPD, the lighter the BW on average.

WW: Expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit growth to weaning in his progeny compared to that of other sires. The higher the EPD, the heavier the WW on average.

YW: Expressed in pounds, is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit growth to yearling in his progeny compared to that of other sires.

Milk: A predictor of a sire's genetic merit for milk & mothering ability transmitted to his daughters.

%IMF: A predictor of a sire's progeny for % intramuscular fat (marbling) in the rib eye compared to other sires.

RE: A predictor of the difference in square inches of ultrasound rib eye area of a sire's progeny compared to the progeny of other sires.

FAT: A predictor of the difference in ultrasound fat thickness at the 12th rib of a sire's progeny compared to the progeny of other sires.

CW: A predictor of the difference in carcass wt. of a sire's progeny compared to the progeny of other sires.

YG: (Sim) A predictor of the difference in Yield Grade of a sire's progeny compare to the progeny of other sires. Like actual Yield Grade itself, the lower the number the better.

API: (Sim) Evaluates sires for use on the entire cow herd (bred to both Angus first-calf heifers and mature cows) with the portion of their daughters required to maintain herd size retained and the remaining heifers and steers put on feed and sold grade and yield.

TI: (Sim) Evaluates sire for use on mature Angus cows with all offspring put on feed and sold grade and yield.

SEN: (Angus) Assess differences in cow energy requirements, expressed in dollars per cow per year, as an expected dollar savings difference in future daughters of sires.

SW: (Angus) Weaned Calf Dollar Value EPD quantifies four primary economic impact areas (BW, WW, Maternal Milk, & Mature Cow Size) and combined into an economic value expressed in dollars per head.

SF: (Angus) Feedlot Value, an index value expressed in $/hd & is the expected average difference in future progeny performance for post weaning merit compared to progeny of other sires.

SB: (Angus) Beef Value, a simultaneous multi-trait genetic selection for feedlot & carcass merit, & predicts the average $/hd difference in the progeny's post weaning performance & carcass value compared to progeny of other sires.

We have always believed in the power of good cow families. The dam to this bull is one of our very best cows. We have kept every heifer out of her, and every bull she has had, has made it to our sale. This bull is so cool in every way. His presence speaks for itself.

He is smooth made, deep bodied and has the power to go with it. Without any question, this would be another great choice to keep replacement females or raise bulls of your own. Homozygous Black, Polled.

Starting the sale off with a really high-quality filly, this one is already showing a bright future. She has approximately 30 days of riding and is riding well, making her ready for someone to step in and continue her training program.

We have a full sister who is now a three-year-old and has stayed in our program, and if this filly is anything like her, she is destined to do great things. She shows the same kind of mind, athleticism, and quality that made us confident in keeping her sister.

Her dam is still owned by us and continues to produce quality foals year after year. This filly comes from a proven cross and a program that believes in her potential.

Don't miss your chance at a really nice young horse with the foundation, breeding, and ability to go on and excel.

Switch has been my go to ranch horse for a while now. We have roped in the pasture, branded calves and tons of time gathering on him. He has spent countless days on pack trips in the back country. Switch is coming along in the arena real nice. He lopes both directions and has been roping the dummy. Switch would be a great rope horse prospect. This horse can sit in the pen for months and not get fresh. He is 5 years old and 14.2 hands tall.

Switch is an 8-year-old gelding that was started later in life and has shown steady, positive progress. He has been started on the heeling dummy and is coming along well, showing a natural desire to stop and plenty of strength to handle either end. He is well built, willing, and eager to learn. Not a bronc, yet alert and aware, Switch offers a solid foundation with continued potential for the right program.

Pip is an all-around rope horse. You can head, heel, breakaway and calf rope on her. She is mainly hauled in the heeling but is used in all aspects of roping. Pip is more woah than go horse, but with the right person on her, she finds another gear! She is a little sensitive with her legs when a rope touches them but nothing dangerous. She has a scarred hamstring which puts a little hitch in her step. South Valley Equine did a lameness check on her and said it is a painless injury and to use her as normal. We have used this mare for everything. She is 14 years old and 14.3 hands tall.

Though he passed away following breeding season a few years ago, his foals have proven to be talented, correct, and great-minded and this filly is no exception. Out of Hancocks Fire Opal, she brings strength, grit, and reliability from the bottom side.

BW Opals Firin shows the kind of presence, build, and attitude that make a standout head horse prospect. She is balanced, correct, and built to handle a job, with the breeding and look to go on and excel in the performance arena.
